2 Reds Roll on Far in Poland

MOSCOW, Jan. 4 (AP)—Red Army forces under Gen. Vatutin, liberator of Kiev, were rolling over the flat terrain of old Poland today after capturing the former frontier town of Olevsk and smashing their way across the pre-war Russian-Polish border.

Fall of Olevsk and Novograd-Volynski, 42 miles to the south, was announced last night in a Russian communiqué which declared that 170 villages had been recaptured. Front line dispatches disclosed that Russian vanguards, pushing on rapidly from Olevsk along the Kiev-Warsaw railway, had crossed the old frontier a short time later.

The spearhead advancing from Olevsk was supported on the left by another column which had occupied Emilichino 28 miles to the southeast.

(International News Service dispatches said Cossacks led the advance.)

The point at which the Russians crossed the old pre-war Polish border is approximately 150 miles east of the frontier from which the Germans launched their invasion of Russia after the partition of Poland, and is about 300 miles from Warsaw.

The southern wing of Vatutin's army, meanwhile, was plunging on from captured Dzerzhinsk, 35 miles southwest of Zhitomir. The Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, in a dispatch from Moscow, said the Russians also had captured the town of Gorodnka on the Sluch river.

Other spearheads of Vatutin's army were pushing toward the Rumanian border. They slashed the Kazatin-Zhashkov and Kazatin-Uman railways serving the 500,000 Germans believed to be still in southern Russia.

The Soviet army organ, Red Star, said in a front line dispatch Vatutin's army was capturing rich booty west of Olevsk.

There was nothing in any battle front dispatches to indicate the Nazis were managing to make a stand anywhere.

Von Manstein appeared unable to instill any order into his left flank troops streaming backward toward Sarny and Kowel, next important objectives facing the Soviets before Lwow, along the southern fringes of the Pinsk marshes.

A considerable natural obstacle faces the Russians in the Sluch river 37 miles west of Olevsk. This would be of little permanent value to Von Manstein, however, for the Russians have already crossed the stream to the south near Novograd Volynski.

The next important objective before the Soviets in this sector is the old border town of Korsce.

RUSSIA—German defeat in east mounts hourly... with Reds driving over the prewar Polish border, taking Olevsk. Nazis stream backward toward Sarny and Kowel, next important objectives before Lwow. To the south, Novograd Volynski and Dzerzhinsk were in Red hands.

Air Forts Rip Nazis in Italy

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 4 (AP)—U. S. Flying Fortresses knocked out the bearing plant at Villa Perosa in northern Italy yesterday and battered the Turin railway yards. It was announced today, while Eighth Army Indian troops seized a hill and advanced inland from the Adriatic.

Masaryk Sees Hitler a Suicide

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian foreign minister, predicted today Hitler won't live long enough to be tried as a war criminal. "He will either be taken care of by the military or commit suicide," Masaryk told an interviewer.

People seem to forget, he went on, that there is cowardice behind the Nazi strategy.

France on Eve of Revolt?

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—A Paris radio commentator declared today countermeasures are being taken in France to prevent a revolt planned to coincide with the Allied invasion.

Allied Bombers Hit 'Rocket Gun' Bases

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—United States Marauder medium bombers heavily attacked military objectives in the Pas de Calais (Strait of Dover) area of France today in the wake of RAF Mosquito forays into western Germany. All planes returned from both operations.

The Marauders were escorted by RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters.

As the day advanced the German-controlled Danish radio left the air followed by the Norwegian long-range transmitters at Oslo and Tromsø. This sometimes is an indication that British or American aircraft are overhead in those areas.

Pas de Calais is the rumored site of emplacements for Germany's "rocket guns." The attack on western Germany last night by the speedy Mosquito formations was the second successive night raid on this general area by these planes and was carried out without loss, the air ministry said.

Fires, meanwhile, were reported still burning in Berlin from the two previous night assaults. Advice from Sweden said traffic within the city remained virtually paralyzed.

Two fires were raging yesterday in Hitler's Reichschancellery.

3 Jap Warships Bagged in Raid On New Ireland

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Jan. 4 (AP) — Japan's naval strength is weaker by two cruisers and one destroyer which were damaged, possibly sunk, by United States Navy carrier planes in an attack at Kavieng, New Ireland.

While the planes from a carrier force of the South Pacific command were hammering the enemy warships with heavy bombs and torpedoes, other aircraft from South Pacific bases were destroying 33 Japanese planes over Kavieng and Rabaul, big enemy bases in northeastern New Guinea. Five American planes were lost in the two raids.

The attacks, reported in Gen. MacArthur's communique today, occurred New Year's Day.

American troops of the Sixth Army's 32nd Division have secured their objective at Saidor, on the north coast of New Guinea, where they made an invasion landing Sunday.

The communique said the Americans easily overcame light enemy resistance, being aided by Liberator heavy bombers which dropped 126 tons of explosives in the area, from Helmholtz point to Saidor. Other bombers hit 55 tons at Madang, the Japanese coastal base 55 miles north of Saidor.

Eighty Liberator heavy bombers, Hellcats and Corsair fighters smashed at Lakulani airdrome in Rabaul's chain of airfields. The Liberators dropped 350 fragmentation bombs, starting fires and destroying an enemy bomber on the ground, then joined the fighters in standing off thrusts by 90 Japanese fighter planes.

MacArthur's communique credited the Americans with downing 18 of the enemy fighters but South Pacific headquarters said later reports listed 20.

The New Year's Day raid on Rabaul brought to 160 the total of enemy planes downed there in 10 days, against an Allied loss of 25.

American Marines expanded their invasion holdings at Cape Gloucester, on the northwestern tip of New Britain, past the airdrome captured Dec. 30. Other Marines west of the cape have penetrated unopposed three miles south to Sag Sag on Dampier Strait.

Japs Say U. S. Planes Hit Marshalls Again

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—A Japanese news agency broadcast said today that 14 U. S. B-24 bombers raided Tarao island in the Marshalls yesterday morning.

The broadcast, recorded by U. S. government monitors, asserted ground batteries had shot down two of the raiding planes and that the Japanese "suffered no losses."

NAZIS UPSET IN BULGARIA, TURKS REPORT

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—While the Berlin radio dismissed today as "inventions" reports that the pro-German government of Bulgaria had been overthrown, dispatches from Turkey said the belief persisted there that Premier Dohri Bojilov's cabinet was on the verge of collapse if it has not actually fallen.

The exact situation in Bulgaria, however, Istanbul advices said, was obscured by continued interruption of normal means of communication with Sofia.

The Istanbul advices said it was freely predicted by persons in contact with Bulgaria and Rumania that popular movements in both countries might attempt organized revolts against the Germans if the Russian southwestward advance continues.

Both Bulgarians and Rumanians were said to be anticipating an Allied landing somewhere along the Adriatic coast simultaneously with the expected Soviet breakthrough from the east.

Bushnell Hits At Police Again

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, JAN. 4, 1934

Despite the collapse of two indictments against them, Atty.-en. Bushnell is still pressing for discrediting of five ranking Boston police officials (one of whom retired last night), it was revealed today through a statement by Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan.

Col. Sullivan had first sent out word, through his secretary, Miss Margaret O'Connor, he was "too busy to see the press," although waiting reporters had not stated what business they were there on. After a short period, however, the commissioner sent out this statement regarding the police officials twice accused by Bushnell of conspiring to permit gambling in Boston:

"This morning I received Atty.-Gen. Bushnell's letter of yesterday, stating that he had evidence relating to indictment No. 2598, 1943, involving five officers in this department, which he believed would assist me in the performance of my duties as police commissioner.

MAY BE FURTHER ACTION
"I am arranging with Asst. Atty.-Gen. Hayes to deliver these papers to me and I propose to turn them over to a competent attorney in whom the citizens of Boston will have implicit confidence for further investigation and report, after which I will take whatever action I deem necessary."

Meanwhile, today City Auditor Charles J. Fox stated Boston will have paid $8731 to former Police Commr. Timilty and other police officials accused under the two Bushnell indictments which fell apart, when all reimbursements for the periods of suspension are made.

For the first suspension period, March 27 to June 4, the officials were paid $6231 in salaries for services not performed because of Bushnell's charges. Included in this figure is the salary of Timilty, who also was under suspension in that period.

The latest layoff, Nov. 27 to Jan. 3, will net five of the officers—Supt. Edward W. Fallon, Deputies John M. Anderson (now retired) and James F. Claffin, and Capt. John A. Dorsey and Edward J. Keating, an aggregate of $2500, though they performed no work.

TIMILTY MAY SUE

Neither Timilty nor the late Sergt. Arthur Eunson was included in the latter suspension.

Threat by Timilty to file civil suit against Bushnell for "embarrassment caused by the indictments" has not yet advanced to the state where he has consulted his counsel, Atty. Francis T. Leahy told the Boston American today.

With the indictments null and void and the five police officials either back on the job or retired, a sizable bill for defense counsel was in the making for Boston taxpayers.

The five are eligible to seek reimbursement for expenses incurred in hiring counsel, just as soon as their requests are approved by the mayor and City Council.

How big a bill the city will be called on to pay for counsel fees alone could only be guessed by comparison with the bill recently approved for Commr. Timilty, twice vindicated with the quashing of indictments. The city approved a $3500 fee for Atty. Leahy and observers pointed out that the police officials prepared their cases right up until the hour scheduled for trial.

Supt. Fallon was back at the helm of the department last night but three other of the vindicated officials were placed in other posts by Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan.

Claffin becomes night superintendent, Keating takes charge of the homicide division of the B. C. I. and Dorsey goes to the bureau of operations at headquarters.

BABY DIANE EAGER OF EVERETT AND BLACKIE
Dog Jumped Through Shattered Window to Protect Her

Dog in Window Dive To 'Protect' Infant

It's very nice at eight months to have a protector all one's own, but under certain circumstances the privilege can be very trying. Miss Diane Eager was probably trying to decide that today in her baby mind.

Diane was relaxing in her carriage in her grandmother's backyard, Rocky Valley ave., Everett, wondering how she could make great-grandfather understand she didn't like to have her tender face sandpapered every morning by his beard, when she nearly swallowed her teeth in fright as glass showered down on her and a big black shape flew over the blankets.

The glass was the bedroom window and the black shape was Blackie, who is baby Diane's self-appointed dog guardian. Mrs. Ethel Prower, Diane's grandmother, furnished the explanation: Blackie, although belonging to Diane's auntie, Miss Dorothy Prower, has adopted the baby and will permit only recognized members of the family to go near her.

At the time when Baby Diane was dozing in her carriage, Blackie was taken into the house for his food. True to his trust, however, he stood vigil over the baby from the bedroom window. A neighbor's boy approached the carriage in taking a short cut through the yard.

Then came the flying glass, the flying dog, and witnesses say the boy made good time in clearing out of the yard, too.

Both the baby and the dog escaped injury.

President Stays In His Bedroom

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt called off his news conference today and stayed in his bedroom on orders of his physician. He is recovering from an attack of gripe.

Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, his physician, said he expected the President's activities to be limited for some time, certainly for the rest of this week.

Medford Father Of 7 Inducted

Everyone in the Pride family of Summer st., Medford, was up bright and early today to participate in one of the greatest events in their lives... Daddy left for the Army.

Daddy is William A. Pride, Jr., father of seven children ranging in age from 15 to two years.

Mrs. Pride and her soldier-husband shepherded the youngsters down to City Hall shortly before 7 where Mayor Walter E. Lawrence greeted them and 16 other fathers who were feted as they left for Ft. Devens and military service.

Pvt. Pride summed up his feelings simply:

"I've been working at several jobs at once to support my fine family. Now, I've got one job and the family will be better cared for than I was able to do in civilian life."

There were few tears as the youngsters kissed their fathers good-bye. When the time came to leave, the children, one by one went to their father and said farewell. They were being brave.

Pride showed emotion as he hugged the two babies, Audrey, 3, and Beverly, 2. He held them in his arms for several seconds before releasing them into custody of their mother... for the duration.

Under the revised Army allotment schedule, Pride's family will receive $200 a month. Pride readily asserted that amount was "about $50 a month" more than he earned.

The other children in Pride's large family are Joan, 15; Donald, 13; Lois, 10; Marilyn, 8, and David, 6.

Snow Flurries Sifting Over Hub

Delayed snow flurries which had failed to materialize according to forecasts the past two days arrive dshorly before noon today.

Previous forecasts indicated the snow had blown out to sea and Greater Boston was to be spared a snowfall.

The latest prediction from the U. S. Weather Bureau held out considerable cloudiness, somewhat colder with rain and sleet ending tonight.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Thousands of city workmen struggled to clear New York streets today as the city was buffeted by swirling rain, snow and sleet that turned to slush.

A number of pedestrian and traffic accidents were reported. Cars proceeded at snail's pace. Winds reached a velocity of 52 miles an hour, loosed signs and pitched copings and cornices into the streets.

Frankfurter Stirs Feud in Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (INS)—A long smouldering feud between members of the United States Supreme Court broke into the open today after two justices wrote a public opinion branding the judicial philosophy of Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter as "dangerous business."

This attack on Justice Frankfurter was written by Justice Hugo Black and concurred in by Justice Frank Murphy in a patent suit brought by the Mid-Continent Investment Co. and the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. against the Mercoid Corp.

SEPARATE OPINION

The court Monday ruled 5 to 4 in behalf of the Mercoid Corp., holding that the protection of a combination patent does not extend to the unpatented elements within it. Chief Justice Stone, and Justices Douglas, Black, Murphy and Rutledge lined up against Justices Roberts, Reed, Frankfurter and Jackson in their findings.

Douglas wrote the majority opinion and Roberts the minority, but Frankfurter, Black (in which Murphy concurred) and Jackson wrote separate opinions.

Frankfurter, in his separate dissent, wrote of "morals" and "ethics." Black, tossing aside the kid-gloves with which jurists handle each other, wrote this: "And for the judges to rest their interpretation of statutes on nothing but their own conceptions of 'morals' and 'ethics' is, to say the least, dangerous business."

"LIBERAL FACTION"

It long has been known in Washington that Justice Black led a "liberal faction" of the court that has constantly challenged the judicial views of Justice Frankfurter.

In his dissent, Justice Frankfurter wrote:

"The doctrine of contributory infringement is an expression both of law and morals. It is but one phase of a more comprehending doctrine of legal liability enforced by this court both in civil and criminal cases."

"Litigants and lower courts ought not to be embarrassed by gratuitous innuendoes against a principle of the law which, within its proper bounds, is accredited by legal history as well as ethics." These few words by Frankfurter touched off the explosion. Justice Jackson wrote:

"As to ethics, the parties seem to me as much on a parity as the pot and the kettle . . . the less legal rights depend on some one's state of mind, the better."

Congress Split Over War Strike Charges

By JACKSON S. ELLIOTT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Demands were intensified today that the recent statement Axis propaganda based on American rail and steel disputes had prolonged the war and cost Allied lives be supported publicly or recanted by the anonymous author.

Authorship of the statement was attributed to Gen. George C. Marshall by AFL President William Green, who said the chief of staff "was reported" to have made it, and he challenged him to prove it. There was no immediate comment from Marshall.

Following a vague reference to the source by White House Secretary Stephen Early as "a little bit more military" than President Roosevelt, a storm of protest arose over the statement and the anonymity of it.

LA FOLLETTE HITS CHARGE

In Congress, one Republican, two Democrats and Senator La Follette, Wisconsin Progressive, joined in voicing a belief the unidentified personage should assume responsibility for the statement.

La Follette asserted the charges "are far too serious to be permitted to remain anonymous," and that the unnamed spokesman "should have the courage and common decency to step forward and voluntarily identify himself." He termed the charges "dastardly" and "tantamount to treason."

Rep. Shaffer (R.) of Michigan, suggesting Congress should begin an official inquiry, added that while the country has no sympathy with strikes now, it "is merely reaping what the New Deal has sown."

"To brand the workers as treasonous and attribute to them the loss of thousands of lives," he added, "is an attempt to shift the blame for existing conditions from the officials who have caused those conditions to the working men who are its victims."

DAMAGE TO WAR EFFORT

Rep. Kilday (D.) of Texas, a member of the House military committee, said identification of the source would permit "free and open discussion of the matter."

"Serious damage to our war effort by our internal disagreements should be brought home to everyone. Open discussion would accomplish that end and give all an opportunity to present their sides."

Rep. Gibson (D.) of Georgia, agreed with La Follette and Shaffer in the belief "Labor had been falsely accused."

Green, in recalling the New Year's Eve statement that rail and steel strike threats may have delayed victory by giving Hitler's propagandists—a telling talking point, said responsibility for the disputes "rests entirely upon bungling, fumbling and incompetent handling by government officials and agencies."

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—The commander of the destroyer fleet in this area began today assembling a full report on the explosion that ripped apart and sank a United States destroyer near the entrance of lower New York bay yesterday.

The report will be forwarded to Washington and casualty lists will be made public there. The Navy disclosed coast-guardmen rescued 163 persons, including 108 injured, soon after the ship sank. The destroyer was abandoned and sank in 40 minutes.

'Total Strike' Aim in Montreal

MONTREAL, Jan. 4 (AP)—Two thousand striking white collar employees of the city of Montreal endeavored today to make their two-weeks-old walkout a "total strike" by tightening picket lines around City Hall and other municipal buildings.

Previously, strike leaders said, they had "closed their eyes" to the continuance at work of 15 of 80 meat inspectors as well as a large number of municipal nurses and other personnel of the city clinic and the sanitary department. The strike, starting Dec. 21, backs a demand for wage increases of $500 annually.

2 N. E. STATES MOVE TO LET SOLDIERS VOTE

Rhode Island and Connecticut today took steps to amend their voting laws so men and women in the armed services may register their preferences by absentee ballot in the national, state and local elections in November.

Gov. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island asked the General Assembly to approve calling a constitutional convention to modify the voting statutes for 70,000 members of the armed forces.

At present non-property owners are required to re-register by June 30. The law makes no such demand of property owners.

In Connecticut, Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin proclaimed a special session of the Legislature Jan. 24. He said:

"Congress has not yet acted on the all-important problem of absentee voting for men and women in the armed forces. We can, in our own state, take care of the situation for our own people. If Congress does not act later we can make our plans fit federal plans. But we do not want to take chance that nothing will be done about it."

Massachusetts has yet to take official action toward solution of the problem.

Prohibition Hearing to Begin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Bowing to demands of more than 100,000 individual petitioners for immediate legislative action, a House judiciary subcommittee will begin public hearings next week on national prohibition legislation.

Chairman Hobbs (D.) of Alabama said the hearings probably would start on Wednesday, two days after Congress reconvenes, with prohibition advocates as the first witnesses.

The hearings will be legislation introduced last March by Rep. Bryson (D.) of South Carolina, to outlaw beverages containing more than one half of one per cent alcohol by volume, the prohibition to remain in effect until "the termination of demobilization" at the end of the war.

Its professed purpose is "to reduce absenteeism, conserve manpower and speed production of materials necessary for the winning of the war."

A bitter fight is expected to develop over the proposal, which has strong House backing. Opponents contend it would be unfair to members of the armed forces to impose prohibition by statute at a time when they cannot express their views in a referendum.

Cong. Goodwin Raps Red Tape On Vets' Relief

By FRANK K. REILLY

Calling on Administration leaders to forget the red tape, Rep. Angier L. Goodwin of Melrose today insisted that mustering-out pay for discharged veterans be the first matter to be considered when Congress reconvenes next Monday.

"I hope—and I believe—that the matter of severance pay will be one of the first considered by the House next week," Goodwin said.

"I was greatly disappointed that the House did not take action on this most important matter before the session closed. There was no excuse for delay then; there is no excuse for delay now. Congress must pass a measure that will adequately provide funds for the discharged servicemen."

"Right now speed is the essence. If it appears there is any attempt to delay action further I shall take the floor to fight for the boys to whom we owe so much."

Meanwhile, Rep. Thomas J. Lane of Lawrence, who fought loud and long for the legislation in the closing minutes of the last session, advocated mustering-out money on the basis of length of service up to and including compensation for 12 months after discharge.

Ill during the last few days, Lane said he hoped to be sufficiently recovered to be back in Washington for the resumption of congressional sessions.

"I shall resume my fight at that time," he said. "I opposed delay over the holidays and tried to get night sessions to push the legislation through. It is now my hope that the bill will be enacted into law long before the end of January."

That Congress has heard sharp criticism from the folks back home was pretty evident today after early return to Washington of Andrew J. May, chairman of the House Military Affairs committee.

"We are going to dispose of this matter in very quick order," he said. "Our committee holds its first regular meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 11, the day after Congress reconvenes. We will report out a mustering-out pay bill that day."

There was nothing in his words to indicate that the measure would provide much more than the Administration's $300 "insult" to the veterans, or, at best, the Senate's bill, which, though it provides discharge pay ranging from $200 to $500, has been called inadequate.

May, himself, said he didn't know what his committee would report out. But members of Congress who have been fighting for the Lemke bill, or a similar measure, to give the discharged veteran $100 when he is mustered out, and to continue his pay for periods up to a year, found encouragement in his promise.

MAYORS URGE VETERANS' AID AS CIVIC DUTY

The need of immediate assistance to returning war veterans was emphasized today as several Massachusetts cities started in motion plans for post-war building projects as disclosed in annual addresses by Mayor Tobin and 18 other Bay State mayors.

Mayor Tobin outlined a civic improvement construction program costing an estimated $48,262,800, in his message to the city council, and declared it is the duty of governments to provide employment for veterans.

Other chief executives gave priority to plans for veterans' relief, post-war rehabilitation and combating juvenile delinquency. Mayor Walter E. Lawrence of Medford asked for establishment of a War Service Board in Medford. He also urged the formation of a Medford Youth Commission.

At Everett City Hall Mayor Frank E. Lewis, sworn in for the ninth time, stated he plans the establishment of a $300,000 fund for post-war rehabilitation.

Rehabilitation plans were stressed by Mayor Carl A. Raymond of Melrose, sworn in for a second two-year term.

A junior police department and a curfew as aids in combating juvenile delinquency were broached by Mayor John D. McCarthy, sworn in as mayor of Malden.

Dr. G. Edward Bradley of Somerville advocated rigid civic economy in order that the city might be prepared to do its part in post-war construction and veterans' aid.

Special Lonergan Jury Panel Granted

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—A request for a special jury panel to try Wayne Lonergan on a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of his heiress wife was granted today by General Sessions Judge George L. Donnellan.

Lonergan is accused of strangling and bludgeoning 22-year-old Patricia Burton Lonergan in a bedroom of their triplex apartment Oct. 26. The trial is expected to start late this month or early in February.

The defendants, some of whom were named in a previous indictment charging sedition, were accused by a Federal Grand Jury of conspiring "with each other and with officials of the government of the German Reich and leaders and members of the Nazi Party" to:

"Advise, counsel, urge and cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny and refusal of duty by members of the military and naval forces of the United States."

The defendants include George Sylvester Viereck, long a German propagandist in this country; Joseph E. McWilliams, organizer of the Christian Mobilizers; Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network"; William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts, who is under a 15-year sentence for violating the Sedition Act, and George E. Deatherage, organizer of the Knights of the White Camellia.

Mrs. Dilling, frequently in the spotlight during the last several years as a bitter critic of the Roosevelt administration, promptly replied to the indictment by describing the charges as "silly" and stating "they're linking my name with the others to nail my mouth shut."

Lois De Lafayette Washburn of Chicago, described as organizer of the National Liberty Party, is the second woman defendant.

Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle commented the department is continuing its investigation of "certain defendants" not named in the new charges.

Here are some statements the defendants are accused of having spread:

"Democracy is decadent; a national socialist (Nazi) government should be established here."

The Government of the United States, the Congress and public officials are controlled by Communists, international Jews and plutocrats.

The Democratic and Republican parties are tools of international Jewry, and do not represent the American people.

Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment, a fine of $10,000, or both.

The eight new defendants, in addition to McWilliams, are Lawrence Dennis, Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, August Klapprott, Ernest Frederick Elmhurst and Peter Stahrenberg, all New York City; E. J. Parker Sage and Garland L. Alderman, both Detroit.

Food Shortage Laid To WFA Hoarding

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (INS)—The Washington Times-Herald, in a copyrighted article, said today the Office of Defense Transportation lays the present civilian shortage of perishable foodstuffs "squarely on the doorstep of the War Food Administration," charging gross waste and inefficiency.

Quoting an official ODT spokesman, the Times-Herald listed the following charges:

"1.—WFA has bought and hoarded such tremendous stocks of butter, meats and frozen commodities that the nation's storage facilities are filled to capacity with no space available for storing spring and summer crop, which should be processed to prevent spoilage.

"2.—WFA has continued buying and hoarding despite this apparent condition.

"3.—WFA does not even know how much it has bought.

"4.—WFA does not know where all this food is stored.

"5.—WFA does not know what percentage of food is held by commercial operators and what percentage by their agency.

"6.—WFA, as a result of this short-sighted policy, has been responsible, indirectly at least, for tremendous losses in meat, eggs and canned milk."

Senator Glass 86

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia, who first came to Congress in 1901 and whose service there has been interrupted only by two years as Secretary of the Treasury, reached his 86th milestone today and View it as "just another birthday he preferred to forget."

Fire Sweeping 5 Ware Plants

WARE, Jan. 4 (AP)—Fire was sweeping five factories formerly occupied by the Otis Cotton Co. here today and officials indicated the damage to the buildings would run at least $125,000, and that the housed material and equipment were valued at another quarter of a million dollars.

Four towns were assisting the Ware department in battling the blaze which apparently started from an explosion.

About 1200 persons are employed by several firms which now occupy the plants. All escaped. Sparks fired the Joliffe Mansion a quarter of a mile away.

Firms occupying the buildings included the Grise Burlap and Bag Shop, the Style Dress Shop, the Ware Machin Shop, the Semm Products, Inc., the Ware Knitters, Inc., the Ware Shoe Corp. and the Hampshire Knitting Mills.

Nazis Train 15-Year-Olds

MADRID (AP)—The German air ministry on Dec. 31 published an appeal to youths born in 1927 and 1928 to present themselves for training as commissioned and non-commissioned officers in the Nazi air force and army.

Link Ex-Convicts In Hotel Holdup

Acting on clues gained from sketchy descriptions and from photographs, police today were reported narrowing their search for bandits who staged the daring $33,000 Copley-Plaza Hotel holdup in front of Trinity Church.

Several Boston underworld figures, including two men recently released from State Prison, were said to be under suspicion as members of the gang which planned the daylight slugging and robbery of Mark Ellis, of Parkvale ave., Allston, Copley Plaza house detective.

Described as between 25 and 30 years old and thickset, the bandits, one of whom wore a gray cap, escaped in a New York registered car parked nearby, which they later abandoned in Coleman st., Dorchester, for a machine gun from Matthew Cushing of Dinsell ave., Quincy, a vice-president of the Granite Trust Co.

Fire Victims In Life Fight

Treatment developed for victims in the Coconut Grove disaster aided a small Hyde Park boy and his sister today as they fought to recover from burns suffered in a fire which claimed the lives of their mother, brother and two sisters.

William Reid, 4, is given a better-than-even chance for recovery, but his sister, Mary, 5, remained on the danger list.

The dead are Mrs. Ann Reid, 27; John Reid, 8 months; Rita, 18 months; and Ann, 6. The two babies were burned to death in their cribs. Mrs. Reid and Ann died at the hospital a few hours after fire swept their Easton ave. home.

Also in a serious condition at the hospital is Mrs. Evelyn Fox, 40, who jumped from a second-floor window of her apartment over the Reid home.

Bullet Wounds Kill Ainsworth Robber

CHICAGO (AP)—William Auburn Thompson, 26, of Salem, Ore., who Police Lieut. Harry Jenzin said was one of three men who Sunday took $150 worth of jewelry from "Sunny" Ainsworth, died of bullet wounds suffered in his capture by police. Two other men escaped.

Miss Ainsworth, divorced seventh wife of Tommy Manville, was robbed in the lobby of a North Side hotel.

Move to End Textile Strike Under Way

FALL RIVER, Jan. 4.—A move for return to work by striking textile workers was under way here today following appearance of eight loomfixers at their old jobs at the Bender City Mfg. Co. and return of three others at the Sagamore Mfg. Co.

The first break in the ranks of the strikers came without sanction of the Fall River Loomfixers' Union.

CAPT. GILBERT PORTMORE
Killed as Wife Waits

Widow of Air Hero on Way To Parents

His pretty bride of less than a year was Framingham-bound today to be with the sorrowing parents of her husband, Capt. Gilbert S. Portmore, much decorated Army Air Force pilot, killed in a routine flight at Chattanooga, Tennessee.

She is the former Joyce Patricia Morrell of Sydney, Australia, who was awaiting her husband at Palm Springs, Cal., when told of the accident.

Capt. Portmore, hero of 100 combat missions in the South Pacific, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Portmore of Framingham. Portmore, Sr., is Framingham's public safety commissioner and retired vice-president of the Denison Mfg. Co.

The air hero and his bride recently had been living at Palm Springs.

Their marriage was the result of a romance which began when he was in a hospital at Sydney recovering from a sinus ailment.

Striking Fishermen Study Vinson Plea

Told that the government's stand in the dispute over fish prices is "final," Boston and New Bedford fishermen today studied a new plea to end their six-weeks-old strike and resume fish production without further delay.

The latest request for work resumption came in a telegram to Capt. Patrick J. McHugh, secretary-treasurer of the Atlantic Fishermen's Union, from Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson in Washington.

Vinson declared that all Washington agencies were agreed that price concessions offered the fishermen on Dec. 10 by the OPA, which also had suggested the formation of a regional advisory committee with fishermen members to study complaints over prices, were final and will not be increased.

The fishermen walked out in protest against establishment of wholesale fish price ceilings which, they said, cut their income as much as 30 per cent.

PSORIASIS

It's always a tragedy when an attractive woman must dress not to enhance her charm—but to conceal her unsightly psoriasis lesions. Is that YOUR problem? If so, then why not try SIROIL? SIROIL tends to remove the crusts and scales of psoriasis which are external in character and located on the outer layer of the skin. If or when your psoriasis lesions recur, light applications of SIROIL will help keep them under control. Applied externally, SIROIL does not stain clothing or bed linen, nor does it interfere in any way with your daily routine. Try it. Certainly it's worth a trial, particularly since it's offered to you on a two-weeks' satisfaction - or - money - refunded basis.

Wrong Guess

Workers who man Peabody's snowplows and snow trucks were on strike today—charging the weather bureau had "done 'em wrong."

Protesting against Mayor Joseph B. O'Keefe's new stagger work system, the men timed their strike with announcement by the weather bureau that a blizzard was sweeping up the coast, bringing heavy snowfall. Soon after they walked out, however, the forecast was changed to "light snow and rain, with no more than a one-inch accumulation."

Nazi Tanks Rush To Battle Tito

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Nazi defenders of Banjaluka, headquarters of the second German tank army occupying the Yugoslavian Adriatic coast, have brought up tanks and field guns in a desperate but so far unsuccessful effort to smash Partisan forces that captured half the city in a surprise New Year's eve attack, Marshal Tito declared today.

"Bitter street battles are still raging," Tito's broadcast communique said.

(A Budapest dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen said Allied officers, presumably American and British, were commanding many of Tito's divisions.)

Nazis Claim 6 Warships

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Berlin radio said today that Nazi U-boats had sunk "six more" Allied destroyers in the Atlantic and added that "this brings Allied losses in destroyers during the last 10 days to 21." There was no Allied confirmation of the claim.

Stalin to Honor 4 Little Girl Patriots

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Jan. 4 (AP)—Marshal Stalin soon will shake the hands of four little girls who have become supreme patriots.

These girls are Svetlana, Lily, Galina and Valentina.

The story of their underground activities is thrilling all Moscow. In Kharkov Province during the Nazi occupation they carried on a campaign that gave the Gestapo plenty of worry.

All four are members of the Young Pioneer League—Soviet organization open to girls of 10 to 14. During the occupation they made a solemn oath to wear their red ties; hiding them under their dresses.

They produced a "wall newspaper" which they pasted up in a remote section of the city where German guns had blown down most of the buildings.

At another time they pasted up pictures of Lenin, Stalin and President Kalinin. They drew and posted childish cartoons of the Gestapo and German teachers. They organized a meeting of children on a cliff overlooking the Kharkov zoo and sang the "Internationale."

A Soviet official who heard of their deeds and brought the news back to Moscow said the girls still were getting out a paper when he met them and they bashfully tried to hid their ink-stained hands.

Svetlana is small and thin. Galina is roundfaced with bright childish eyes. Valentina is short and laughing. Lily has been taken to another town.

"Don't hide your hands, little girls," said the official, "everyone is going to shake them."

Knox Says Bombings Softening Marshalls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—

Secretary of the Navy Knox reported today American air forces are "continuing to soften up" the Marshall Islands and are encountering weak opposition in the air.

"We are putting the enemy on the defensive throughout that region," the Secretary said at a news conference.

Teachers' Flu Hits Schools

Unable to replace teachers who are ill, classes were doubled up today in many Boston schools. Supt. of Schools Arthur L. Gould, who reported that 14,000 pupils and 166 teachers failed to return to school after the Christmas holidays, said that the teacher absenteeism offered the greatest problem. The ailing pupils represented about 14 per cent of the city's school enrollment, a figure somewhat above the average even for January.

JVA to Aid Old Clothing Drive

A special appeal is being issued to Junior Victory Army members in Boston to take part in the today drive tomorrow and Tuesday to collect old clothing for our suffering Allies and for the piles of re-occupied countries.

Director George G. Hyland of Boston salvage committee urges boys and girls to spur their parents and other householders to their neighborhoods to look through chests; closets and attics suitable castoff clothing.

About 10 per cent of clothing collected in the drive will be used for local charities, the other 90 per cent will be sent to the relief of people abroad.

Rags will be turned over to war industries for use in the manufacture of wiping cloths and packing for the shipping of munitions.

The clothing should be placed in boxes on the sidewalk in the city at 10 a. m. Wednesday morning for the first 14 wards of Boston, and at 10 a. m. Thursday for wards 15 to 22, inclusive.

JVA's are warned guard against giving to the clothing which will be replaced by the owners, since this will only cause a home front fiasco, Director Hyland says.

To join the JVA, send name, age and full address to: Victory Army, Box 228, 1st Mass. H. In addition to enlist, you want the JVA insignia and membership card, enclose 10-cent coin well-wrapped in a letter.

ARE YOU ANEMIC?

(Due to Iron Deficient Blood)

FEEL YEARS YOUNGER with IRON-RED BLOOD!

Men and Women Who Feel "Old at 40" May Need Iron Rich Blood to Build New Strength and Energy

Don't gamble with your health if you are run down, pale, weak, tired, listless and irritable because of nutritional iron deficiency ANEMIA. IRON RICH RED BLOOD is essential to health... your blood is one of the most important things in your body and it must be RICH IN IRON for healthful strength with energy, power and endurance.

The reason is that the iron hemoglobin in your blood carries the life giving oxygen to every organ in your body... it supplies the oxygen that is needed to oxidize your food before the things you eat can give you energy and maintain body heat. It supplies the oxygen that is needed to dispose of certain poisons, carbon dioxide, through the lungs.

Every minute of every day, while you work or you sleep, millions of your body cells wear out and your body weakens and grows old unless these cells are replaced with new cells... IRON RICH RED BLOOD is essential to the processes which build new cells in your body.

Iron is, therefore, one of the most important factors of health... important as a carrier of oxygen to body organs, important as a carrier of oxygen to oxidize food for its energy and body heat, important in disposing of certain poisons, important in building new body cells... be sure you get enough iron.

Pale Men and Women With Iron Hungry Blood Need Iron

No matter what your work may be, whether you are a housewife, an office worker, a mechanic, or an executive, you need IRON RICH RED BLOOD for normal strength, normal energy, normal power and vitality, and normal endurance.

You may not get enough iron for your needs from the food you eat... you can get all the iron you need by adding HIRAN to your daily diet. HIRAN, used as directed, furnishes several times your minimum daily requirements of iron in convenient, easy to take tablets. HIRAN does more than this... here is what HIRAN does for

BLOOD AND NERVES

HIRAN is rich in IRON for IRON RICH RED BLOOD.

HIRAN is rich in VITAMIN B1 and iodine for nervousness caused by a deficiency of these essentials.

Are You Aging Before Your Time?

If you are aging before your time from the lack of iron rich red blood or not enough iodine and Vitamin B1, decide today to really DO something about it. Weak, pale, thin blood cannot give your body the proper nourishment it needs. In order for your body to have the vitality and energy it needs—ready for work or play—and able to carry on the normal activities of everyday life, it must have a full supply of rich iron red nourishing blood.

Results Guaranteed or Money Refunded

MAKE THIS TEST... Have your physician take your blood count, then use a bottle of HIRAN Tablets according to directions, and have a second blood count made. If your blood does not show improvement in the count, or color index, etc., or if you do not feel a general all around improvement, the test is absolutely free.

See how much better you feel after HIRAN helps you overcome the ill effects of a deficiency of IRON or IODINE or VITAMIN B1.

Labor and the War

THE ATTITUDE of American labor toward the maximum and continuous performance of its essential services in wartime is a cause of grave and growing concern to the country.

It is understandable and indeed inevitable that labor should have differences and grievances, in spite of the war. Nevertheless, there is a great and terrible war in progress, and it is a life and death struggle which our country must surely win or surely perish.

Therefore, it is the earnest desire and the rightful demand of the people that the differences and grievances of labor be settled peacefully and without interruption of the war and especially without the giving of aid and comfort to the enemy in a manner that prolongs the war and risks the actual loss of the war.

Of course American labor does not WANT to give aid and comfort to the enemy, and does not do so with acknowledged or deliberate intent.

But whether labor intends it so or not, any stoppage or curtailment of war production obstructs the war effort by withholding weapons and munitions and supplies from the fighting forces.

Strikes impede and impair the war effort.

The strikes in the coal mines disrupted the war effort.

The threatened strikes in the railroad industry would have paralyzed the war effort.

The recurring strikes in the steel industry, in the shipyards, in the aircraft plants and in other vital and indispensable industrial fields have added weeks and months and perhaps even years to the time that will be required to win the war, and thus of course have increased the cost of winning the war—especially the basic cost in American lives.

While strikes in some instances have resulted in higher earnings for labor, it is very much to be questioned if labor has achieved ANY gain through strikes that it could not have achieved peacefully.

Peaceful methods of adjusting differences and remedying grievances are always more fruitful than violent methods, even in "a TIME of peace."

They are the OBLIGATION of patriotic and loyal organizations and people in time of war.

But whatever the APPARENT gains of labor through strikes in wartime may have been, they are not fruitful or honest gains if they are achieved through intimidation of government and through hardships and sacrifices and frustrations imposed upon the public and through hazards and discouragements inflicted upon the fighting forces.

Neither the American people at home nor the American fighting forces at home and abroad are "anti labor" in any sense.

The present American government, and especially the present national Administration, is consistently and zealously "pro labor."

But neither the people nor the fighting forces nor the government can condone or RISK the certain prolongation and possible loss of the war through production stoppages or curtailments.

An Unfortunate Situation

ATORNEY GENERAL BUSHNELL spent more than a year in preparation of a case against certain police officials.

He twice caused the indictment of seven men.

The indictment proclaimed them guilty of wrong-doing. One man died while under the stigma of indictment waiting trial.

Another was forced from office under a cloud of charges that were never proved.

The five others, accused, were suspended, made the butt of whisperings and innuendo, obliged to retain counsel to defend themselves against they knew not what.

Yesterday, with the case due for trial, the attorney-general admitted he didn't have any case that would stand up in a court of law.

It took Mr. Bushnell five pages to explain his action in not pressing his gambling conspiracy indictment against the remaining defendants, but that was the sum and substance of his explanation: he didn't have a good case.

It took him five long pages to explain and it took him SIX MONTHS to reach his decision.

He decided not to prosecute, he said, because the name of Ex-Commissioner Timilty had been stricken from the indictment and certain evidences might not be admissible.

Timilty's name was stricken from the indictment by court order FOR THE SECOND TIME on July 2, 1943.

That is SIX MONTHS AGO.

The indictment was the same yesterday as it was SIX MONTHS AGO.

The evidence was the same yesterday as it was SIX MONTHS AGO.

Now the Attorney-General of the Commonwealth will need many times five pages and many times six months to convince the public he should not have dropped his charges six months ago.

In their first passions
Women love the lover
And in the others
They love love.
—LA ROCHEFOUCAULD

LA ROCHEFOUCAULD made the above observation in 1655. Some 140 years before Byron wrote "In her first passion a woman loves her lover. In all others she loves his lover." The thought has a nice poetic swing to it but it is not true. . . . Many barber shops have introduced the dollar haircut. That price is too high. Seventy-five cents is about right. The dollar haircut may inspire many men to buy clippers and to cut their own hair with the aid of their wives or secretaries. . . . Have heard of some unusual grounds for divorce but the one that sticks most in my memory is that of a woman in California who asked for a divorce on the complaint her husband woke their baby at 3 in the morning and fed it sardines and salami.

HUSBANDS, ETC.: There are "a thousand and one good ways to get a husband," according to a western expert on the subject. This expert appears far in advance of our Mules & Men Department which at this time has only 367 good ways to get a husband in its files. As to the general subject of getting a husband, I am informed an enterprising woman of South Dakota once advertised for a husband and received 1000 proposals within two weeks. The lady's advertisement, which appeared in the Lake Preston, S. D., News, read as follows: "I mean business! If there is any young man in this country that has as much sand in him as a pound of plug tobacco, I want to hear from him. I have a true claim and a homestead. Am a good cook and not afraid of work and will do my part. If any man with a like amount of land and a decent face and carcass wants a good wife, I can fill the bill."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—If it is a girl my wife wants to name the child Mavoureen. I want to name it Eugenia. Have there been many famous women named Eugenia? A—Offhand I cannot think of any famous Eugenas. There was once a socialite named Eugenia Kelly who used to get her picture in the papers occasionally. The empress who was responsible for that peculiar hat some women wore ten years or so ago was named Eugenie. Anyway, Eugenia is a nice name. I like it better than Mavoureen. . . . Q—Who was the feminine star in the original silent film version of "The Phantom of the Opera," in which Lon Chaney starred? I know but I want to win a stogie from you. So don't look it up. A—I think it was Laura La Plante.

SIDELIGHTS: A San Francisco says she knew a man from Moody, Tex., named Alexander Gumperton Ruffleton Shuffleton Ova Dave Whittleton Sullinaw

Benjamin Franklin Elmo Ruth. . . "Bugs" Baer is my pin-up boy and I am almost in love with you, too," says a young woman of Detroit. It is gratifying to note Mr. Baer's career as a pin-up boy continues as usual. He was Broadway Rose's pin-up boy in the last war. . . . Among her souvenirs Joan Crawford has a watch that doesn't run. Joan doesn't want it to run as the hands are permanently fixed at the hour and minute she met her present husband. A very romantic idea. By the way, what time of the day was it when you first met your wife?

THE DOG: "For goodness' sake say something about the pup. Is he well? Is he with you? We are worried at your not mentioning him," writes a kindly Chicago client. The "pup," which a 4½-yr.-old Springer spaniel weighing 43 pounds, is in the pink. He is having the time of his life hunting squirrels in a real forest. He was so tired after hunting the other day that when he was walking home he stopped and went up to a taxicab and wagged his tail. He wanted to ride the rest of the way. Of course, that's true. He's a very remarkable animal. Only yesterday a man said to me: "Mister, that dog is so darn near human it ain't funny."

PASSING BY: Elliott Nugent. Making the hit of his career in the sensationally successful comedy, "The Voice of the Turtle." He has been on the stage 39 years. Mr. Nugent's first New York stage appearance was with Lynn Fontanne in Dulcy. Incidentally, Miss Fontanne has been on the stage 38 years. . . . Bill Strang, harness race enthusiast, Owner of the winner of the Hambletonian Stakes of a couple of years ago. Bill is from Brooklyn. So was the horse. It is as I told you Brooklyn has outstanding stars in all activities; even harness horse racing. Speaking of fellows named Strang, who remembers Sammy Strang, the greatest pinch-hitter of all time? And what became of Sammy? In addition to being a great ball player, he was a good singer and studied opera in Paris under Jean De Reszke.

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Monday, Jan. 3.—On Friday afternoon of last week I went over to the Stage Door Canteen at the Shubert-Belasco Theater to see an art exhibition. It consisted of portraits of soldiers, sailors, marines and coast guardsmen done by outstanding American artists at the canteen. These portraits are now on exhibition, but will later go to the mothers of the boys.

The admission to this exhibition was to be paid in kind. We were to bring with us a dollar's worth of candy, pickles, olives, potatoes, canned soup, milk or home made cookies. If we did not have any of these articles on hand, we could enter by paying a dollar, which I am ashamed to say is what I did.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON I had a series of rather interesting visitors. It began with the sister of a young Red Cross man, Mr. Don Montgomery, who has an enviable record for his work with the soldiers on New Guinea. Later, the four American labor people who had made the trip to Britain came to tea.

They were accompanied by four British labor people, who have come over here to visit our plants and to study our system.

THEY CHERISH An American Flag given by the workers of America to the workers of Great Britain in appreciation of the labor effort made during the war over there. I asked them how they felt about their women workers. They replied that they felt the women had done an extraordinary job and earned for themselves consideration and recognition for the future.

A young sailor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Egar, came to tea with me. It certainly is wonderful what seeing the White House means to people who have never had the opportunity before.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 4—"Show Boat" is almost in the same category as "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It's here to stay. It has been made twice in the movies, first with Laura LaPlante in the silent version and later with Irene Dunne in a talkie. Now M-G-M's pet and pride, Judy Garland, is to be starred in the 1944 version.

JAMES MELTON is a very likely prospect for the male lead opposite Judy. M-G-M paid all his expenses to come out from New York and test for the role of gambler, and it doesn't seem likely they would go that far unless he was all but set. He made one picture, "Sing Me a Love Song," about six years ago and since has been on the stage and has sung on the air.

Jennifer Jones

JENNIFER JONES will have a chance to prove whether she is a versatile film actress or just a lucky girl who had a great director to guide her. Twentieth Century-Fox has her for two pictures in 1944 and because it is difficult not to type her after her saintly Bernadette in "The Song of Bernadette," Darryl Zanuck is planning to star her in "Laura," the Vera

Caspari novel, which is a complete departure from her first role. Of course, she will have "Since You Went Away," David Selznick's picture, as an interlude. Lewis Milestone is Darryl Zanuck's choice to direct the Jones girl in "Laura."

INTERESTING that Universal is reviving their money-making "Invisible Man" series, but off-hand, Jon Hall seems an unusual choice to star in the new one, "The Invisible Man's Revenge." The chiller will be something new for Hall who has been making Maria Montez movies. "U" has made three of these thrillers—in 1933 Claude Rains starred in "The Invisible Man"; Vincent Price went from "The Invisible Man's Return" to a Broadway hit, and several years ago Virginia Bruce and the late John Barrymore made "Invisible Woman."

HIGH TIME somebody got around to starring Charles Coburn in his own right, and 20th's going to do it. As soon as Mrs. C. finishes his role in "Wilson," he steps into the top role in "Colonel Ewingham's Raid," the Barry Fleming best seller, originally purchased for another old cutie, Monty Woolley. Monty will do instead "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

way of providing the boys in the service with a little gift to while away the time, Ann Miller sent out a jigsaw puzzle picture of herself to lots and lots of soldiers. The other day Ann received a classic letter of thanks: "Dear Miss Miller: It began—'sure enjoyed the jigsaw puzzle picture of you. But one of your parts is missing.'"

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Helmut Dantine is now kissing Lois Collier's hand; John Loder's Christmas gift to Hedy Lamarr, an amethyst and silver bracelet, earrings and ring, arrived a week late from Mexico City; nice to see so many old friends at the cocktail party Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers gave New Year's Day; Lillian Gish wearing bright red was a gay and happy figure; Janet Gaynor, a picture of fashion as Adrian's wife talked silent days although she by no means dates back to when D. W. was making Biograph Specials; Norma Shearer exceedingly pretty in a leopard skin hat and coat; she brought Katherine Thalberg, her young daughter, with her and Katha was really in good behavior; Harold Lloyd had his two lovely daughters with him; Frances Marion, who has just signed a long term contract, was flitting about. She looks so well.

Boston After Dark

A MINK-COAT WAS GRABBED from the shoulders of a young woman as she left a Warrenton st. nightclub early New Year's Day . . . Two men ran with the coat and got away . . . (It may have reached the police blotter, but it escaped attention of this department . . . Another holiday crime, as yet unreported, was the vandalizing of a South End cafe which has been closed since Nov. 1 . . . Furniture, including an expensive grand piano, was smashed to bits . . . And if the photograph of Mark Ellis, the Copley Plaza's house-officer who was victimized in the $33,000 stickup on Trinity Church's lawn, seemed familiar, he will be remembered by more Bostonians than the few who met him in his line of duty as a house-officer, as the cab starter and doorman of the Plaza's Dartmouth st. entrance—his post for many years.

"POINT OF ORIGIN"—BOSTON—The Sportsman's Show is always a good show . . . It will be better this year than ever, in spite of wartime restrictions . . . Aside from its merit, and the fact that it reflects the willingness of at least one Bostonian, Sheldon H. Fairbanks, to tear the rubber-band from his bankroll, the Sportsman's Show has another claim to the affections of this, its home city . . . The Sportsman's Show was conceived and created here . . . When it tours the country, including New York, it bills itself as the New England Sportsman's Show."

AND WHAT IS SO REMARKABLE about Mr. Fairbanks' show being a Boston-grown product? . . . Simply this . . . It's the only creative effort in show-business, or in the arts, which can claim: "point of origin—Boston!" . . . Imagine! . . . Not so much as a single soap opera originates from this, the erstwhile "Athens of America." Let us except the Boston Symphony Orchestra, whose new status with union complications ironed out, may now qualify it as a "network" attraction . . . (We are not really sure about the Symphony) . . . But nothing else "originates" here.

NO ESTABLISHED playwright, no best selling novelist, no recognized classical composer, no theatrical producer, no syndicated columnist classifiable as a "think" columnist, or not even a writer of hit tunes for Tin Pan Alley, comes to mind readily as a Bostonian who works at being a Bostonian, i. e.: who lives here.

WHY? . . . We would like to make this treatise constructive by being able to give a few reasons for the aridity of Boston as a creative field for the lively arts and radio . . . In radio, the answer is that "there's no money here"

. . . Yet some of the biggest programs on the air are sponsored by Greater Boston firms . . . All we can say, and somewhat shamefacedly, is that lack of research, at this time, makes even one answer impossible . . . It all seems incredible . . . Cities like Rochester, N. Y., and Cincinnati, O., are "points of origin" for at least one nationally hooked-up radio show a week . . . And Louisville, Ky., and Detroit.

MEANTIME, GRASPING at a straw, we can report that Mr. Fairbanks and his associates have had the temerity to send trappers around the "uplands" getting new animals for this year's Sportsman's Show . . . The Sportsman's Show, which comes to the Arena for five days and nights beginning Jan. 14, will have on display such creatures as a badger, a silver fox, a white-faced fox, a platinum mink, a bobcat, a spotted mink, black, white and grey raccoons, arctic blue fox, a platinum fox, an otter, a mountain lion, and "upland" waterfowl of all descriptions . . . "Sharkies," the "human seal," and the famous performing grizzly bear now a hit in vaudeville, will be on hand . . . Do you think we're spoofing? . . . We are not . . . We beg Mr. Fairbanks to survey the radio field, which he once knew well, and see if he can create just one program which will sign off by saying: "This program originated in the studios of WUXYZ, in Boston, Massachusetts." . . . For a national hookup, of course, we mean!

Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—Most people remember years not by battles and history-making pacts but by little things, like songs that were whistled on the street and a funny hat that a sad girl wore, and who married whom and was it a Wednesday or a Thursday? For Broadway collectors of such trivia, 1943 was the year in which:

Doris Duke Cromwell had more trouble trying to lose a husband than most girls have trying to find one . . . Pompadours came down, but prices zoomed up . . . A timid-looking boy named Frank Sinatra revived swooning and made it even more popular in this swing age than it used to be in the Mauve Decade . . . Bob Hope hit the road to our troops overseas without Lamour or Crosby . . . Maggie Sullivan and Mary Martin made triumphant returns to Broadway from the Beverly Hills movie mills, while Joan Blondell fared less famously in a turkey that got the bird even from its writer.

STANDOUT SONGS were "You'll Never Know" and "People Will Say We're in Love" (horror!) "Pistol Packin' Mama." Two ingenious nitery owners named Leon and Eddie temporarily solved the tire and gasoline and taxicab shortages by chauffeuring their customers about town in an elegant coach drawn by two tuning blind steeds . . . George Jessel wrote his memoirs, causing a few blushes in the Broadway area and a great deal of whispering from coast to coast . . . BROADWAY'S MARQUEE situation took on a brighter look, figuratively as well as literally

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 4—You, too, can write movies. It merely depends on what type of a movie you want to write. Every picture has a basic situation, and once you get this particular hunk of dialogue on paper you've practically got your movie.

"You're not going to send that kid up in that crate on a night like this!"

"Why not? I'm not pampering him just because I fought with his Dad in the last war."

"Are you there, Flanagan? Control tower to Flanagan. Come in, Flanagan."

"OK, to control tower. Ceiling zero, but I'm going to try to make it. Stand by."

You recognize this. It's the airplane picture and it practically writes itself. Later, there'll be a scene of Flanagan releasing the bombs and saying, "This is for Pearl Harbor." Just a few substitutions and a submarine picture can be made of it. This is called "the swicheroo," but it's the same picture.

"JEAN FRANCOIS, I am afraid all your research has been for nothing. You have not found the pied d'athlete after all."

"Ah, no, m'sieu. So long as Madame believes in me will I persist in my research of you everything here."

"And now, in behalf of the Nobel Prize Committee, I present you with this award for your discovery of pied d'athlete."

"I am an old man, but thank you, madame, ah. Research, ah. The little woman, my source of comfort, she is the one who should be honored. Without her it might never have been. Also, it is only possible because of the Four Freedoms. We must go on working, fighting for such things . . . You know that this is the biographical epic for any actor who is distinguished and can be billed as "Mr. —" in the advertisements.

"YES, I MURDERED him, but I'm glad, understand, glad." "Gentlemen of the jury, I submit this woman as an unprincipled killer. I demand the extreme penalty."

"Ladies and gentlemen, Roberta Sludge, accused by the state of the crime of murder—is a mother!"

"Quiet! Quiet! The courtroom will have to be quiet; else I shall have it cleared! Quiet!"

You have seen Bette Davis or Barbara Stanwyck or any of the "handkerchief gals" in it. This is what is known as an "acting vehicle" and a "woman's picture." And if you want to put it on real thick, there can be this line of dialogue: "Yes, you're right, Roger. He would have wanted it that way."

¹⁶ Reunion in South

MANY Bostonians are starting the New Year at Pinehurst, N. C., where horseback riding, golf and tennis are favorite sports, and reunions with loved ones at nearby southern camps a happy reality.

Mrs. William Wellesley and Oyster Harbors, daughter Helen, Miami Beach to spend the holidays with Ted Danforth of the Air Corps at Pinhurst, Helen, who is well-known around here as an expert horsewoman, took in the annual midwinter horse show over the week-end. She is engaged to Lieutenant Stephenson of Ohio, who is presently stationed on the West Coast, and has his heart set on coming East to be wed in June.

At Pinhurst the Danforths are holding a reunion with 18 of their Oyster Harbors summer neighbors. Other Bostonians vacationing there are Lieut. and Mrs. George Mixter, Jr., of Pinckney st., who are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Appleton Warren, at their estate, The Casements. The Thomas Bensons of Boston have moved into their new winter lodge where their neighbors include Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Farr of Gloucester, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Adams of Worcester.

22 Bill Cowley Hailed Hockey Player of Year

By JACK CONWAY

RISKING THE danger of being charged with being premature, I wish to nominate Bill Cowley, Bruins' center, as the player of the year in the National Hockey League. Cowley has played sensational hockey all season, and has been largely responsible for Herb Cain leading the circuit in scoring with 24 goals for the season.

I am writing to go out on a limb for Cowley at this stage of the league race as I feel he will continue to play sensationally for the remainder of the campaign.

Cowley has been in the midst of every surge the Bruins have made down the ice, and when he has not scored the goal himself he has frequently been passing the puck to Cain, Clapper or some other member of the attacking group, who has then shot the marker.

Capt. Dit Clapper, who is being groomed by Art Ross to manage the Bruins, has received full support from Cowley at all times. Cowley knows that Clapper will receive his opportunity to prove his worth as a pilot, and he is doing everything possible to help make him look good.

The remarkable comeback of the Bruins against the Rangers in New York on Sunday night, when they scored a 13 to 3 victory, will send them into their game with the Chicago Blackhawks at the Garden tonight with plenty of support.

The injury to Jack Crawford in Saturday night's game was upsetting to the Bruins. It was just one more bad blow, and the team did not rally as well against the Toronto Maple Leafs as has been its custom. The Bruins also lost the services of the youthful Bep Guidolin.

The New York victory over the Rangers will give the Bruins new fire for tonight's contest with the Blackhawks. With the team showing new spirit, the goal tending task for Bert Gardiner will not be as difficult as it was against the Maple Leafs. Gardiner came in for a great deal of criticism from the fans during the Maple Leafs contest. He was in the unfortunate position of being unable to stop well set up plays.

The fact Frankie Brimsek has such a great goal has made the fans too critical of Gardiner's playing.

Dr. Bradley in Office

THERE WERE many leaders in athletics in the Somerville High Auditorium when Dr. G. Edward Bradley took office as mayor of Somerville. It was a fitting climax to a brief political career in which one of the finest ring officials New England has had, offered his services to the city in which he resides.

In athletics Dr. Bradley has always shown the highest traits of sportsmanship. He refereed New England A. A. U., All-America, Army and Navy and a few professional bouts. The fact Dr. Bradley was the third man in the ring assured both principals as well as the public of fair treatment.

Dr. Bradley promises to carry this same type of sportsmanship and fair play into public office with him. He intends to do his utmost to give Somerville a good city administration.

Gene Driscoll, Herb Holm, Atty. Joe Blumack and Dick Merrick, prominent in A. A. U. circles, were among the sports leaders who attended the inauguration ceremonies.

In the post war period, the public will look more than ever to young men who have done well in athletics when they seek public officials. With millions of service men eventually returning to civilian life, it will be a young man's world, and the leaders in sports have much to offer to help make things better.

Sonny Horne Arrives

GEORGE (Sonny) Horne is in town to finish training for his 10-round bout with Henry Chmielewski which will highlight the Callahan A. C. show at Mechanics Building on Thursday night. Horne looks as if he is physically fit, and when he enters the ring against Harry Kelley's thumper he expects to show at his best.

Horne, a fast, skillful boxer, believes he will be able to keep out of range of Chmielewski's punch and box his way to a win.

N. E. Title Figure Skating Tourney Here on Week-End

The New England Figure Skating Championships, under the sponsorship of the United States Figure Skating Ass'n, will be held at The Skating Club of Boston Saturday and Sunday, beginning at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning and with competition then continuing through Sunday.

The "New Englands" as they are popularly known, bring to the Skating Club rink the leading figure skaters of New England. In competition at this time will be seen many of the leaders of the Eastern section.

There will be senior, junior, novice and juvenile classes in both the singles and pairs and entrants will be listed from skating clubs of Boston, Providence, New Haven, Manchester, Springfield and other nearby points. Many of the entries are from the Commonwealth Club of Boston, the Cambridge Skating Club and the Newton Figure Skating Club as well, of course, as the Skating Club of Boston which will present many of its best skaters in competition in these big events.

Dancing on ice, which has come to be extremely popular, is also on the program of competitions and will include the Continental Waltz, the Tango, the Fox Trot, the Fourteen Step and the Three Lobed Eight Waltz.

Senior school figures will be drawn from lots from the five groups specified for the National Junior Championships. Among competitors will be such well-known skaters as Dorothy Glazier, Lesli Glazier, Kay Lindstrom, Barbara Lindstrom, Patricia Foley, and Jane Weiss.

Cornell Center Leads East Hoop Scorers

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Bob Gale, Cornell's frosh center, is the leading scorer in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League with 56 points in four games, the most played by any of the league's five teams.

Gale's teammate, Ken Haggerty, is the runnerup with 42 points with Aud Brindley, captain of the leading Dartmouth five, and Mike Shinkarik of Princeton ties for third with 35 each. Larry Killick of Dartmouth is fifth with 30.

Bruins Set to Blast Hawks Here Tonight

By BILL GRIMES

Due to the fact that it will be the last N. H. L. game played here for 11 days, the fans will flock to the Boston Garden tonight to watch the Bruins and the Chicago Blackhawks.

The Bruins bounced back into the games won column, after the Toronto Maple Leafs had broken their undefeated at home streak Saturday by swamping the Rangers in New York by the almost unbelievable score of 13 to 3. Apparently, the setback by the Leafs woke up the Rossmen for they gave Ken McAuley, the Ranger goal minder, a terrible job over equalling the 13 goal job Les Canadiens handed Bruins' net guardian, Bert Gardiner.

BACK IN SECOND

Through their win over Rangers, the Bruins moved back into a second place tie with the Maple Leafs, who are playing the Flying Frenchmen tonight in Montreal. The Rossmen will swing under the half way wire of the N. H. L. race tonight. And, "Cowboy" Bill Cowley with only 24 games under his belt has amassed a total of 49 points, which is but seven less than Bryan Hextall, Rangers, compiled in 48 games to top the N. H. L. two years ago.

With Jack Crawford still hospitalized and Bep Guidolin taking a much needed layoff, Guy Labrie and Rus Kopak, of the Olympics, will be with the Bruins tonight. Labrie and Kopak played against Rangers and turned in fine performances, the former scoring a goal and the latter getting two assists. They've played three games with the variety. Manager Art Ross will open up with the Cowley line and Capt. Dit Clapper and Guy Labrie on the outer defense and Bert Gardiner in the nets. He will assign Art Jackson to fill in for Guidolin at left wing on the Sprouts and Kopak will center for Al Palazzari and "Busher" Jackson on the third line.

Although they are still in fourth place by a margin of two points of the Detroit Red Wings, holders of the Stanley Cup, the Chicago

Blackhawks have lost six out of their last seven games.

HAWS IN SLUMP

Since they hung a 7 to 1 defeat on the Red Wings two weeks ago in Chicago, with James Norris, who owns the Detroit club and also the Chicago Stadium, sitting in on his first hockey game of the season, the Hawks have been knocked off by Rangers and have lost a home and home series to Les Canadiens. The win over the world's champions interrupted another three-game losing streak.

Manager Paul Thompson predicted today that his Hawks would snap out of their slump before they returned home. The Willy City hockey experts, particularly one John P. Carmichael, of the News, who, incidentally, broadcasts their games, have been giving the Hawks' executives a thorough going over for not going out in the open market and buying a few hockey players.

Although they have picked up only six points since Nov. 28, the Hawks haven't lost any ground to the fifth place Detroit Red Wings, so Manager Thompson has reason to figure that his Hawks will make the play-offs at the expense of the world's champions.

Horne Starts Hub Training

George (Sonny) Horne and his trainer, Ray Arcel, arrived at the Back Bay Station yesterday and after checking in at a Back Bay hotel, went to the Kelley & Hayes' Gym on Hanover st. and worked out eight rounds to the satisfaction of more than 300 fight fans.

Everything is now set for the coming middleweight classic at Mechanics Building, Thursday night, when Henry Chmielewski, from Portland, Me., battles Horne over the 10-round route.

The boys who like to make a little wager have agreed at four to five and let you pick it. That is how close this middleweight struggle is considered.

Early in the flood of money from war workers in plants throughout New England began to be felt in wagering circles and it seemed possible that Chmielewski would go to the post 11 to 10 favorite.

They weren't betting on Chmielewski because he is a shipyard worker. They were betting on heavy-handed Henry because of his record as a fighter in Boston and because of the great records that Polish boys have made in the middleweight ranks.

Edwards Hoopsters Challenge R. I. State

CAMP EDWARDS, Jan. 4 (AP)—After his Camp Edwards team swamped the Chatham Coast Guard, 103 to 33, Coach Dutch Ayre stated he was going to challenge "that other 100-point team in New England, the Rhode Island State Rams."

Fred Smith, center for the winners, broke individual scoring records here when he racked up 31 points.

Predict Close Race in N. L.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—The limited amount of player talent available will bring a close race in the National League, according to the theory of Eddie Brannick, secretary of the New York Giants.

"Instead of one or two having all the hitting power and pitching strength, the material will be more evenly distributed," Brannick concludes. "The Giants will have a better chance at the pennant under new conditions. We have 12 newcomers, all engaged since Sept. 1."

War Bonds Prizes In Texas Golf Tilt

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 4 (AP)—Some $7000 in war bonds will go to the winners of the Texas open golf tournament which is scheduled over Brackenridge Park course here Feb. 10-13, inclusive, Sam Goldfarb, president of the San Antonio Golf Ass'n, said. The regular tournament kitty has been $5000.

Pics Face Falcons Next

Olympics continue at the Boston Arena Saturday and Sunday evenings, when they entertain the strongly reinforced Philadelphia Falcons.

Since Ray Chaisson was added to the Falcon roster, Redvers MacKenzie's team has improved both in their play and in the league standing. A new goalie has materially stiffened the Philly defense. Chaisson and Al Lauzon have developed into a slick combine and this pair accounted for the recent victory the Falcons registered over the New York Rangers.

Olympics have had little trouble with the Falcons so far this season. Only really tight tilt was the very first one of the season; a 2-1 triumph for Boston. Since the opener 'Pics have defeated the Falcons in Philadelphia by the scores of 3-0, 6-0, 7-1 and have beaten them in Boston by a 10-0 count.

Dodgers' Montreal Club Pilot Ousted

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—John A. McDonald, general manager and vice-president of the Montreal Club of the International League, today received word of his dismissal from Hector Racine, Royals' president.

The move was believed to be part of a general shakeup by Branch Rickey, guiding light of the Brooklyn organization in which Montreal is the top farm club. Earlier Fresno Thompson had been removed as manager and replaced by Bruno Betzel of the Durham, N. C., Bulls.
